

Cause

Effect

Congress passes a bill in 1828 that raised tariffs (taxes) on raw materials and manufactured goods

Tariff of Abominations hurts South Carolina's economy

Group Three- The States' Rights Debate and Jackson States His Position pg. 400-401

Cause

Effect

Calhoun's ideas lead to major disagreements and debates regarding the federal union (national government)

Jackson did not believe that states could nullify federal law

Calhoun and Jackson publically argue at The Jefferson Day Dinner

Group Four- South Carolina Threatens to Secede pg. 401

Secede-_____

Cause

Effect

Jackson asked Congress to reduce the tariff in the hopes of maintaining the union

Jackson runs for reelection without Calhoun as his running-mate

Henry Clay proposes a compromise tariff